It is always good to be in Santiago for the Chilean National, which this year had as the stage the International Equestrian Club of La Dehesa, located in a new and noble neighborhood of the capital Santiago from March 25th to 26th. In addition to the beautiful presentation of horses for the halter judgment, the Chilean breeders welcomed their visitors, mainly Brazilians breeders, who were able to defray the extraordinary reception in two magnanimous dinners at the residences of the president of the Chilean Association of Breeders, Hernan Chadwick and that of its Director José Miguel Bulnes.

The horses shown in this National once again surprised by the beauty and quality. Brazilian judges Reinaldo Rocha Leão and Cesar Schmidt who have already judged the Chilean National to emphasize the evolution of the quality of the country's horses: "Every year I come to Chile I realize a significant genetic improvement of the breeding," says Reinaldo. "I always try to follow what happens in the Latin America breeding and Chile is undoubtedly a great highlight," says Cesar. Already the American judge Doug Dahmen relates of being in Chile many years ago and you can not make comparisons, "Back then it was a breeding looking for a way, today you see that the way was found, so I saw here horses that would compete in any show of the world." – assures Dahmen.

On the ring many exciting moments. The three judges were keen to emphasize that the Senior Mare Championship as the most beautiful and unanimous Champion Lumiar Ethna
