

ARABIAN HORSE WEEKEND SINT-OEDENRODE NATIONAL SHOW

On July 16th the beautiful facilities of Pijnakker Ridingschool in Sint Oedenrode, Holland, was turned into an Arabian Village. A big green arena, multiple stands where clothes and horse products could be purchased and a large indoor arena where the stables were located. The Stoop family, organizer of the Arabian Horse weekend, made everything possible to please both the owners and the grooms as well as making a good environment for the horses. The stable area was quiet and the arena big enough to show some extending trot. Unfortunately the weather gave so much rain the days before and also during the nights that the ground was very slippery and therefore some horses trotted a bit careful.

The weekend started with the National C-show of Holland. Judges for this show were K. Zeevenhoven, Mr. Pittaluga and Mr. Jimenez. Although the judging was a bit off from time to time, giving a 16 and a 19 to the same horse, the average lineup of the horses were quite correct and the competitors were happy with the results.

The show started with the filly yearling class, won by the beautiful Ero's Romantique (Marhaabah x Raville P) – bred and owned by the van
