The touristic city of Avare, interior of Sao Paulo, hosted two of the largest Brazilian shows: Breeders' Cup and International of Arabian Horse. For the two events the judges were, from Europe: Gerard Kurt and Richard Pibistrom; from the USA: Joe Polo and John Rann and from Brazil Eduardo Caio.

Breeders' Cup took place on September 10th.

Since its start, in 1996, 14 years ago, the judging system remains the same. The breeders are allowed to enter 4 horses, no older than 36 months, of both gender and of his own breeding program. Judges will grade them from 0 to 20 for Type, Head/Neck, Body, Legs, and Movement/Presence. The higher and the smallest score are discarded. There is no judging for championship. The score from three horses from each breeder are totaled and the horse with the lowest grade is eliminated. The winners of the Breeders' Cup is the breeder that when adding the score of his horses has the highest. The ten horses with the highest scores are awarded the title of Breeders' Cup Top Ten, and the horse with the highest score will receive the Premium Cup.
