The Ali Jamaal Heritage was a great party held last May 8th at Haras Meia Lua, Brazil, to celebrate the 28th anniversary of Ali Jamaal. And it was a success.

There were 300 persons that came, all very curious to see the Legend and his progeny.

They were not disappointed. When the music began, Ali Jamaal walked in the ring with all his beauty and dignity, as the King of Haras Meia Lua.

He looked at his mares, with arched neck and tail up, as if he was still showing himself as 1990 U.S. National Champion Stallion in the show ring – and again, like 20 years ago – had a standing ovation.

His sons and daughters, granddaughters and great granddaughters were shown, dancing trot at the music of Bach, Vivaldi and Rachmaninov. Also Perseus el Jamaal, a magnificent black stallion was a sensation to the audience.

Many of the horses shown had been acquired by the breeders in Brazil and some by other countries.

When Jullye el Ludjin and her 7 daughters came in the ring, again people stood up and applauded, and when Ludjin el Jamaal entered there were cheers and people in tears.

In the end, came the 3 sons of Ludjin:

djin, a young grey colt 6 months old. Everybody loved them, specially the little colt.

The party started punctually at 10:30 AM. Drinks and petit fours were served, and the barns were open for visiting, including all the horses.

Everybody wanted to see Jullye el Ludjin and Renée el Jamaal, they were famous and both were National Champions in Brazil. At 11:30 AM there was a briefing at the big white tent.

Lenita Perroy, owner of Haras Meia Lua, talked about the history of Haras Meia Lua and the breeding program; Luiz Rocco about the international success of the Jamaal progeny and Reinaldo Rocha Leão about the reasons for Jamaal's greatness: his pedigree. The presentation of the horses was in a stage, soberly decorated with the tall green native Napier grass, the ground covered with white wood powder, lit by sunlight from the cristal ceiling and by green lights on the side.

This environment and the classical music created a magic atmosphere. The quality of the horses was much appreciated by the public.

At 2:00 PM a delicious lunch was served while Lenita presented all the owners of Jamaal horses, acquired at Haras Meia Lua during the years, with an exquisite artwork picture of each horse.

The party lasted until dark and many of the guests made a request to Lenita: to have a party like this every year! □
