Looking at the pictures taken by Izabela Rajca-Pisz and realizing that she started her professional career just two years ago brings the immediate impression of great talent one should have to reach so far in such a short time with the hard beginnings. In secondary school she started some adventures with the old legendary Zenith taking black&white photos. But paradoxically the real interest in catching a while in the lens came with the professional modern Nikon camera that put the challenge up. I love being thrown into the deep waters as there you can only have two solutions... - says Izabela - since then I'm addicted to photography, especially long time pictures when you can slow down the passing moment, expose the movements and create the effect. Probably that's why my favorite topic is horse in the action - race and emotions. But also animals of all kind and species - wherever I travel to I always visit a ZOO, take the photos and... I feel insufficient after that short time spent amongst animals. I'm just fascinated by pelicans and the variety of animals coat colors and structures – zebra's stripes, painted giraffes and hidden spots on black jaguars... My future dream is to combine my passion with professional publishing work so that the pleasure can be also profitable but I believe that no profitable work can be reached without a passion.

Izabela Rajca-Pisz is also talented painter – the scholar of Austrian Government (Internationale Sommerakademie fur Bildende Kunst in Salzburg) and author of several Polish State Studs (including Janów Podlaski) monography books published by one of Polish oldest and most known publishing house Volumen. Recently, following the co-operation with Urszula Łęczycka (the owner of ArabHorsePromotion.com, one of the leaders of Arabian horse designs in Europe) Izabella starts the new chapter of her activity named Passion Photography.

Passion Photography offers limited, exclusive photo sessions on request to selected clients – every wish will be captured! Action, horses or beloved pets, Izabela also specializes in kids' photo sessions so if you dream on the great memories of your family or events - here comes the new, different look - created with Passion!

At last but not least – part of the profit from every work ordered at Passion Photography is shared with animal's rescue charity. Let's share our Passion with those who really need
