After a gap of four years, I finally had the chance to visit the Amorosino family at their famous Haras Serondella once again, some days ago.

It was a long drive all the way from Rio de Janeiro but it was definitely worth every second. Everything went perfect, including the weather that have been dreadful on the eve of my arrival at the farm.

Thankfully the sky turned blue just in time, so that we could see all the 55 wonderful horses outside and then later in the stalls. A comparatively small herd if considering the high percentage of winners bred by Serondella throughout the years, a breeding program that alone and without any heavy publicity has already exported 39 horses worldwide. Horses that have become champions and champion producers in their respective new countries.

Much has changed, or better yet, has been consolidated since my last visit, a few months before the Brazilian National Show in 2021.

For starters the now acclaimed aristocrat Only Serondella, though already highly decorated as a show mare, was going back to Nationals for the first time with five of her offspring alongside her: Unno Serondella, Simply Serondella, Veron Serondella, Rhaydee Serondella and Vision Serondella. All of them, including her, came out as winners in the respective classes, also winning several championships.

It was also the first of the four years in a row that Haras Serondella won the coveted titles of the Best Breeder and Best Exhibitor at the Brazilian National Show! Before that, the Amorosino family had been absent from the show ring for three years.

The statistics of the overall results gathered by Haras Serondella during this period is nothing short of extraordinary.

The farm has amassed a grand total of 23 National Champion titles, 20 of which with their own homebreds, of which 16 are by parents also bearing the Serondella suffix, of which 12 have at least four generations in a row of Haras Serondella breeding behind them.

Through Only Serondella and her descendants alone, the farm has collected 16 National Championships.

Here are the titles won by Serondella bred and owned horses from 2021 to 2024:

It is important to mention that in 2024, from the four chosen unanimous champions at the National Show, two were bred by Haras Serondella as well as descending from Serondella bred horses, hence 50% of the all the National unanimous winner this year.

But back to my recent visit...

I have known Fabio for over 15 years. During all this time we were able to meet and chat mostly during the horse shows we attended, for between my first visit to him and the one in 2021 there was a big gap of time as well. Just to have an idea, Only Serondella was just a yearling and that memory is very vivid to me because Fabio was the first breeder to use AAS-Elishahh, Only's father, very early on after his arrival in Brazil. I can say that at that point we were fellow acquaintances within the Arabian Horse Show community. Even though I always admired the way he

future Stallion of Haras Serondella

Zenyatha Serondella
(*HP Ali x Simply Serondella)

developed his breeding program, many times picking mares and stallions that would not be an obvious choice to most, but that were my choices too.

The point is that since that first visit three major events have transformed and strengthened our bond from merely acquaintances into true friends.

The first being Fabio's imperative help with the making of my book, "The Arabian Horse in Brazil", as President of the Brazilian Arabian Horse Association in 2014. Without his continuous help and support the book certainly would never become a reality.

The second was when I first had the opportunity to chat with his sons Felipe and Fernando at a horse show (Pedro, the third son, was still a baby back then). They were still very young and outstandingly knowledgeable. That resonated deeply in my heart because it reminded of my passion for pedigrees and horses when I was about their age. It felt rewarding to watch the way Fabio always rightfully respected and qualified their opinion not ever making an issue about they being young.

The third was being able to spend this last weekend with the entire Amorosino family (Fabio, Felipe, Fernando, Pedro and Araceli). It felt like getting to really know them for the first time and it was fun! It would not be a wrong assumption, especially after those days with them, to say that all of us are indeed Arabian horse nerds, in the best sense of the word! After spending the whole day between the horse's presentation (much more of that coming soon...), walking the pastures and seeing literally everything; we managed to spend the whole evening, talking until midnight, about every possible Arabian horse related issue imaginable.

It was as if I had finally found my group of peers, moreover, they made me feel as part of the clan. I had the chance to learn the whole story of Fabio's involvement with the breed since the beginning, while Felipe was still baby and Fernando was on his way.

I heard from Araceli herself how Fabio would spend countless hours in his free winter days during his time working in New York, imagining crosses and studying pedigrees, something that once again deeply resonated with my own personal experience. I also had the opportunity to learn other amazing stories such as his first horse with Arabian blood being a gift from his then girlfriend and later wife Araceli or his early friendship with the traditional breeders Caetano e Fernando Fabrini, how he fell in love with one of his best mares, the straight Spanish Parana and how, several years later, he was able to purchase her and start the dynasty that resulted in Only Serondella, four generations later.

I also got better acquainted with Fabio's early admiration for Murilo Kammer's El Nabila B and how he was one of the first breeders to use him and possibly the one who bred most mares to him. From that admiration he bred, among other great horses, two very important pieces of the Serondella breeding, the first being the refined Emhyr Serondella (x Dhyeva ATA by AAF Kaset), a very special colt that was widely used as a sire inside and outside Serondella that has become a reference as a mature stallion for printing his amazing movement, expressive eyes and correct bodies; the second being the great champion Ehva Serondella (x Nuk Serondella by Encore Ali), the maternal grandmother to Only Serondella.

Also, his close bonds with Adelia Audi from whom he leased a unique lot of El Shaklan daughters including the emblematic Samsya NA (x Porcelynn by Padron) and the late Lenita Perroy from whom he acquired the most sought after bloodlines including daughters and granddaughters of Elle Dorada, Eloise el Jamaal, Perfechsahnn SRA and Julliye el Ludjin.

The weekend had given me yet another gift: the privilege to witness the way Fabio and his sons work together combining their knowledge into the fact that they are a family, and how that sum of elements has created such a strong team when it comes to collectively defining strategies for their breeding and show programs (according to Fabio's wife, Araceli, through very heated and passionate discussions sometimes too, with one opinion prevailing over the others from each of them at different occasions. Still according to her, sometimes Fabio did play the "I am the father" card to win the round, but only in rare occasions!).

It is no surprise that they have come so far and raised the bar so high when it comes to the quality of their horses.

As far as breeding philosophies go, some really interesting developments have happened since 2021. Through their undisputed favorite Only Serondella (AAS Elishahh x Jelabie Serondella by Vektor el Ludjin), the goal to create a Serondella look has been consciously crafted.

Only's dam line comes from a solid family of great mares. It started with the above-mentioned Spanish import Parana whose purchase marks the official beginning of Haras Serondella as we know today. Parana was bred to the Ali Jamaal son Encore Ali to produce the beautiful Nuk Serondella who in turn was bred to El Nabila B and produced the accomplished Ehva Serondella. When bred to Vektor el Ludjin Ehva produced Jelabie Serondella who was bred to AAS Elishahh to produce Only (and later she also produced Simoneta LF purchased by Fabio who showed her to Brazilian National Champion Gold Champion Young Mare).

The first steps towards the objective to build the Serondella look could have already been noticed early on with the offspring of some of Only's daughters such as Samoah Serondella (by HP Ali) and her winning daughter Acqua Serondella (by Abbas Al Ventur) and Simply Serondella (by TS Khidam al Shawan, exported to Al Shaqab Stud in Qatar) and her champion son Amir Serondella (by Santorini), who will start breeding a group of mares very soon. The addition of Only's full sister Simoneta LF, was also a strong indication towards this plan.

But it was not until this year that her son Vision Serondella (by AF Maden) started to prove his worth as an impressive sire, generating in his very first foal crop a Unanimous Gold Junior Junior colt Brazilian National Champion with Bhaarez Serondella (out of Aratnxa Arabco by QR Marc). I was able to see eight foals from Vision's first crop of ten babies. Aside from their unquestionable superior quality, they really look alike, even being out of very different mares. When it comes to the future generations, Vision seems to be quite an appropriate name for this outstanding stallion.

So now we have an established look based on a superlative representative of the farm's breeding program, backed up by descendants from both her son and her daughters, that has been developed for seven generations and that now, after all these years of careful selection, has become a reality.

No one could argue that this is no easy task. In reality, how many breeding programs in any age or time have achieved the feat of having an identifiable strong look to distinguish their breeding program from the rest? Jack Tone Ranch with Fadjur? Gainey with Ferzon and Gai Parada? Ansata with Ansata Ibn Halima? Dr. Nagel at Katharinenhof? Haras Meia Lua with Ali Jamaal? Very few indeed... Furthermore, how many of those achieved this goal without infusing linebreeding or inbreeding as a strategy? In reality, almost none.

In parallel to Only's trajectory, other important mare families are already setting themselves apart with the rising of new champions produced by them. That is the case with Aria Shanteuse (Gazal Al Shaqab x G Shamal by Ali Jamaal out of the iconic Shahteyna). Her daughter Ultraah Serondella (by Quasim CRH) has been named three times Brazilian National Silver Champion Mare. Her daughter Almaah Serondella (by GT Shardh) is the reigning unanimous Brazilian Gold National Champion Young Filly. Almaah has been exported to Rae Dawn Arabians right after her win at the Brazilian Nationals and may continue her successful show career under their care in the U.S. Also from Ultraah is the beautiful bay filly Balladaah Serondella (by TM Itaipu) who caught my attention during our pasture walk with her refined look and bold movement. Another important foundation from Shanteuse's family is her daughter with Emhyr Serondella, Rhobin Serondella. She is becoming a reliable source to the program for huge eyes, exuberant movement, well placed necks and show attitude.

Another mare that holds a special place at everybody's heart at the farm is the magnificent Brazilian National Gold Champion Senior Mare Rhavina Serondella, arguably one of the best daughters ever of the World Champion Stallion Gazal al Shaqab and the famous WH Justice daughter RP Joharra. A mare that pleases the highest standards of type and quality anywhere in the world, Rhavina has already a National Champion daughter to her credit with Zennah Serondella (by Dominic M). Her latest daughter with Vision Serondella was among my favorite ones during the tours around the pastures. Rhavina also became a headliner when she won the Senior Mare title at the Brazilian Nationals since she was chosen by the accomplished horseman

Michael Byatt as the last mare he would ever show in the ring. Despite many huge offers to buy her, Rhavina is happily spending her days at the farm with her pasture mate.

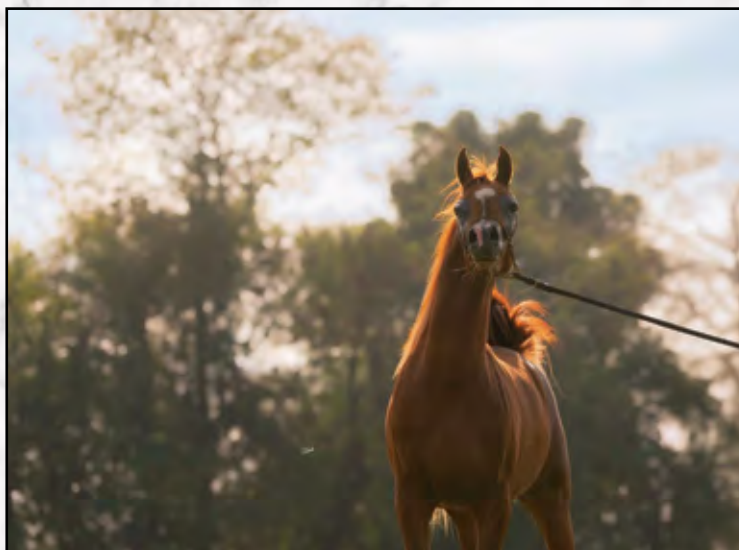

We cannot forget place the family of the iconic mare Terta Real (Ansata el Tareef x AF Berta), bred by Haras Correia's to the hall of the great ones. Her trajectory as a superior mother started at Haras Meia Lua, before being purchased by the Amorosino family, where her mating with Ali Jamaal produced three Brazilian National Champions: Alihana el Jamaal, Arkane el Jamaal (both exported to the U.S.) and Alatheia el Jamaal. Other two full sisters bred by Lenita were also incorporated to Serondella program: Azdara el Jamaal and Amelie el Jamaal. From the cross with Perseus el Jamaal Azdara produced two great get: Fhelka Serondella and Henno Seronella. The chestnut Fhelka who is now assuring the future of this family at the farm, especially after the birth of her son Turim Serondella (also by AF Maden) that made her importance as a broodmare became even more evident. Turim was so beautifully refined that he was chosen as the main candidate to assume the herd sire position at the farm. His premature death was a huge loss to the breeding program. She also produced a beautiful black daughter, Atia Oone, who has been exported as a youngster to the U.S. Henno Serondella, a superb grey stallion, was one of the first Brazilian National Champions to bring glory to the farm. He was named 2008 Brazilian National Junior Champion Colt and that win entitled him to earn an invitation from the Emir of Dubai to compete at the prestigious Dubai International Horse Show. From the mating of Amelie el Jamaal and Perseus el Jamaal, the beautiful flea-bitten grey Amalia Serondella has been produced. After her export to Germany, she became German National Gold Champion Mare and Best in Show.

One mare that has always caught my attention was the impressive Queridah Serondella, sometimes known as the other Elishahh daughter, a title that may be about to be replaced by the other great Elishahh daughter. The typey bay Queridah was only shown once at the very tough Mogiana show winning unanimously the filly class and leaving behind several future Brazilian National Champion Mares in the way. Her dam line traces to two pillars of Haras Meia Lua breeding, since her mother Livyah Serondella is by Jylbert de Wiec, a son of Debowiec and Jullye el Ludjin out of the only daughter in Brazil of Austrian National Champion Mare Lylyh el Jamaal, herself a granddaughter of the legendary Lydira el Shaklan.

The awareness of the Amorosino family on the importance of distinguished mare lines in any breeding program has fortunately led them to make an effort to preserve families that were important to other famous farms, incorporating them to the Serondella breeding through the best females from each of them and breeding them further to new generations. That was the case with notable dam lines such Sahara Gallina, Bint Bey Shah, Hylany Reyna, Honeys Delight RB, RP Joharra, Dora Van Ryad, Nahla el Madan, AF Escocia, Promise V, Jamaara FA and Brazilian and U.S National Champion Mare Queen Aida FMW (the mother of Brazilian National Champion Razeer Serondella who despite being exported is still widely used with at the farm).

Another reflection on the family working collective as team at Haras Serondella is the diversity of aspects of a breeding program they encompass. As the saying goes "two minds work better than one". Let alone four minds acting as walking computers in the service of the Arabian horse. The Amorosinos have a clear picture of what they want and that alone is quite a lot, in my opinion. They will not use an outside stallion because it is fashionable or popular if it will not add something important that they are looking to infuse.

Some decisions might align with the general outside trend and some might not. But they are all made in the service of the vision they believe in. And breeding decisions will always prevail over the showing appearances.

That diversity becomes more evident when we look at the resident stallions used at the farm. Presently four stallions occupy the position of senior stallions. Each of them with a very specific mission in regards to their contribution to the breeding program and all of them being very distinct from each other, while special in their own ways.

The first and perhaps the one from whom the biggest task is expected is the homebred Vision Serondella. As previously mentioned, he carries the mission of inaugurating the Serondella look through the sire side, as the best son of Only Serondella in breeding age. Though still young and in his first foal crop, Vision is sending all the right signals that he is more than up for the assignment. Balanced bodies, huge expressive eyes, short heads, long croups with straight high set tails and beautiful upright movement are some of the traits that you see on his foals, with the visual stamp that is required of a look that intends to be printed forward.

In a near future another member of the Only family, Amir Serondella (a son of Simply Serondella), will also have his abilities as a sire tested. The big difference being that he comes from the Mirage sire line through Vervaldee whereas Vision derives from the Saklawi sire line, descending from FA El Shawan.

The second stallion, the chestnut Abbas al Ventur (Halys Meia Lua x Emozione al Ventur) is a show horse veteran and a multiple National Champion winner. He is a combination of the blood of Ajman Moniscione, Monogramm, Ali Jamaal and FA El Shawan having none other than the legendary Brazilian and U.S. National Champion Honey's Delight RB as his maternal grandmother. Bred and co-owned by Eduardo Gama, Abbas has been spotted as an ascending sire when his exquisite daughter Acqua Serondella (x Samoah Serondella) made her debut two years ago at the Brazilian Nationals dazzling the entire audience, becoming an instant crowd favorite with her incredible type and balance which assured her the Junior Junior Gold Champion filly title. Abbas displays a dramatic movement always making memorable entrances wherever he is presented, as well as a balanced square body, beauty and show ring attitude. He represents a great blend of his ancestor's blood.

The third stallion, also a chestnut, came all the way from Europe. His role in the program is likely to bring in extreme type while maintaining a solid body structure in his foals. GT Shardh is a son of a WH Justice that served as a senior sire at La Movida Arabians in Austria and has been imported in a partnership formed between Haras Aratinga and Haras Serondella. The two farms had also another successful endeavor together with the ownership of Talaal Serondella (Shiraz de Lafon x Eliane el Ludjin by Ludjin el Jamaal out of Elle Dorada), sire of the dual Brazilian National Gold Champion Rhakeem Serondella K and presently owned by Al Khor Stud in Qatar. GT Shardh is an interesting case of being a son of a worldwide famous sire but setting himself apart due to his unique straight Egyptian lines present in his dam side, that includes names such as Botswana, Asadd, El Halimaar and The Egyptian Prince. The validation of the decision to import him came with the show ring and public recognition of two of his outstanding daughters born at Haras Serondella: the bay Almaah Serondella, mentioned above and the classic chestnut Bonitah Serondella (x Queen Elsa FWM) whose name, quite fittingly, means beautiful in Portuguese.

The fourth piece of the puzzle is their most recent addition, in which the highest expectations are being placed. The dark bay Royal Dominion has an almost romantic beauty about him as if he'd been transported from a Delacroix painting. This young stallion has been named Brazilian National Champion Gold Junior Stallion and was bred by Royal Arabians, who also bred his maternal brother Royal Asad. Sired by Dominic M out of the ethereal black beauty Lumiar Ethna, Royal Dominion combines extreme beauty with a showring demeanor while having a look of his own that is hard to describe. He makes you dream. That is perhaps his ultimate mission in the program: to bring the dream to the equation, the indescribable, the unpredicted wow factor that we all know that exists but it is not easy to label. He is the type of horse that one has to see in person to make sense of his uniqueness and I can only imagine the heights that he can reach under the care and knowledge of the Amorosino family.

A third important part of the Serondella plan that is being put in place refers to a combination of riding disciplines, the twist being that the horses chosen for this endeavor are all halter winners at the highest level. To prove that accomplished halter horses can and should excel as riding horses, the Serondella Experience in the first step of this initiative has selected two National Champion colts to promote the program: Rakheem Serondella and Unno Serondella, the second being a direct son of Only Serondella and El Jahez WH. It is a commendable plan that intends to put in practice what our community has been thriving to do for so long. Kudos for the Serondella Experience.

And so, after spending my first weekend at Haras Serondella with Fabio, Felipe, Fernando, Pedro and Araceli (and their lovely retriever), walking the pastures, going back to the stalls, eating delicious cheese burgers prepared by Pedro and having memorable chats about our beloved horses, I was headed to drive back to Rio.

It took me a few days after my arrival to settle and process everything that I experienced, with my mind so full of images and stories that will live in my memory for many years to come. Hopefully the next visit will take less than four years from this one. Even though the number four seems to be a lucky number for the Amorosino family. Four times best breeders and owners at National and four passionate supporters of our breed within the same family.

May their blessings multiply many times over; for now, the four of them (and Araceli), somehow, also feel like family to me.
